Jan 3, 2007 Macworld Expo starts Tuesday and the VMware Fusion team is going to be there demoing our hearts out, talking to users, and doing our best to engage with the Mac faithful.

We'll be located in Booth 2202 in Moscone South. This is the hall where Apple is located, and we're on the right as you enter the hall. Just turn right as you enter, and look for the big VMware banners hanging from the ceiling...

What We'll Be Up To

We'll be demoing VMware Fusion 2 on five demo stations, handing out "My Mac Loves VMware" laptop and bumper stickers, and doing presentations in our theater.

Even better, we'll have some special guests in our theater. Every day at 2PM, Joe Kissell from Take Control Publishing, will be presenting tips and tricks from his awesome book "Take Control of VMware Fusion 2", the quintessential power user's guide to VMware Fusion 2.

So if you would like to come say hi, whether you're a curious would-be user, a current customer, press, partner, or so on, our booth is the place to be. We'll have something for everyone.

RSVP Pretty Please

If you're planning on coming by our booth, do us a favor and us know, or RSVP for our Facebook event.

Also, if you're in town on Monday night, we'll be sponsoring a user meetup at The Thirsty Bear restaurant, providing some good company and some tasty appetizers (though you buy your own beer) for Friends of Fusion before the show starts.

Again, please RSVP so we know how many people to expect!

We'll see you in San Francisco!
