

Remote Console Session over http Proxy ...

Sep 20, 2006 Logging on to the Web interface works using a proxy, but the Remote Console does not. Is there a way to force Remote Console traffic through an http proxy? I can see with my sniffer that it is trying to connect to the VM directly which is prohibited on our corp. network. All traffic has to go through a proxy. I think VMware Player doesn't support proxies either.

Not all traffic is encapsulated into 443 port.

The console traffic goes through another port (I think 902).
