

No audio in XP? ...

---

Mohseni310 2 posts since

Jul 6, 2009 I'm currently running Windows XP Professional using Fusion 2.0. I installed VMware Tools and everything is working great. The only problem is the sound. I've tried countless FAQs/tutorials and I've read some discussions. Unfortunately they were no help to me. My sound card is connected. My audio is turned on. I've tried disconnecting and connecting, and restarting the VM. So far, nothing. Any idea?

Computer specs:

iMac (Late 2007)

2.0 ghz Intel Core 2 Duo

ATI Radeon HD 2400 XT

3 GB of ram

OS X Leopard (10.5.7)

SAS47vmw 7 posts since

Jul 6, 2009 1. Re: No audio in XP? Jul 6, 2009 10:36 PM

I just started having the same problem. Does anyone out there know what is going on? Was there a recent upgrade or download from VMware or Microsoft that killed audio? I am running XP on a partition on my Intel based Mac.

WilliamReid 81 posts since

Jun 29, 2009 2. Re: No audio in XP? Jul 7, 2009 8:27 AM

Why don't you try updating to the latest 2.0.5 version of Fusion?

You can download it at this URL. <http://www.vmware.com/download/fusion/>

SAS47vmw 7 posts since

Jul 6, 2009 3. Re: No audio in XP? Jul 7, 2009 10:01 AM in response to: WilliamReid Hi William, I already have VMWare Fusion 2.0 - any other suggestions? Should I upgrade to 2.05?

SAS47vmw 7 posts since

Jul 6, 2009 4. Re: No audio in XP? Jul 7, 2009 11:30 AM in response to: WilliamReid I did as you suggested, installed VMware 2.05 - in turn I installed VMware Tools - and then opened and selected audio and voila! Many thanks.

SAS47vmw 7 posts since

No audio in XP? ...

Jul 6, 2009 5. Re: No audio in XP? Jul 7, 2009 11:30 AM

I did as William Reid suggested, installed VMware2.05 - in turn I installed VMware Tools - and then opened and selected audio and voila!

SAS47vmw 7 posts since

Jul 6, 2009 6. Re: No audio in XP? Jul 7, 2009 11:31 AM in response to: WilliamReid William,

I did as you suggested, installed VMware2.05 - in turn I installed VMware Tools - and then opened and selected audio and voila! Many thanks.

Steve

Mohseni310 2 posts since

Jul 6, 2009 7. Re: No audio in XP? Jul 7, 2009 4:03 PM in response to: WilliamReid I installed 2.0.5, then I opened up my vm and I still had no audio... I went to "about" and it said i still had 2.0.

WilliamReid 81 posts since

Jun 29, 2009 8. Re: No audio in XP? Jul 8, 2009 5:25 AM in response to: Mohseni310

Hi there,

If your upgrading to 2.0.5, I would make sure that all Guests are completely shutdown and that Fusion is not running. It never hurts to take a backup of your guest VM's as well while your at it...

After the upgrade your guest Windows install will most likely let you know that the tools need upgrading.

William